

Teenage Dreams

Nada Surf

Calm down now
Gotta trust the mind
Take as common sense
In the blood of time Can't talk much just a little bit
The truth is a tree if you start shaking it Sometimes I ask the wrong questions but I get the right answers
Moved to a tear by the subway breakdancer It's never too late for teenage dreams
It's never too late
It's never too late for teenage dreams
Teenage dreams
Wind is blowing Did you mark that speed
In between the days
When the tremor seats And the overstock of these easy times
Has the warnings of birds in coal mines Sometimes I ask the wrong questions
but I get the right answers
Moved to a tear by the subway breakdancer It's never too late for teenage dreams You'll get through the days when you're way too late
And the clouds lift the top off of the empire state Even those days
You have the feeling Someone's listening Through everyone's overtalking
We sit we wait and we empty our plates Let's prove that this year something's coming Sometimes I ask the wrong questions
but I get the right answers
Moved to a tear by
the subway breakdancer It's never too late for teenage dreams
It's never too late
It's never too late for teenage dreams
Teenage dreams Sometimes I ask the wrong questions
but I get the right answers
Moved to a tear by
the subway breakdancer
the subway breakdancer
(teenage dreams)
the subway breakdancer
(teenage dreams)
the subway breakdancer

Lyrics provided by <http://greatlyrics.net/>