

Sumer

Rostam

I was dead and born again, oh no
And soon it will all feel so long ago
On the street I felt the daylight again
And heard the voices of all my friends
Coming up the stairs I felt
The summer and the thunder
Coming through the window off
The water and I wondered
I was dead and born again, oh no
And soon it will all feel so long ago
On the street I felt the daylight again
And heard the voices of all my friends
Coming up the stairs I felt
The summer and the thunder
Coming through the window off
The water and I wondered

Lyrics provided by <http://greatlyrics.net/>