Unforgivable Youth (feat. Jason Evigan)

Lupe Fiasco

This world, my heart, my soul
Things that I don't know
The icicles they grow
They never let me go
Scars are left as proof
But tears they soak on through
Things I've done
My young
My unforgivable youth

With land on the horizon and passion in their eyes and
What they think are islands are much more in their size and Bountiful and plentiful and resource to provide them
Supplies slim, morale once so heavily inside them
Now steadily declining

Return is not an option as necessity denies them With this they choose to dive in

Now along the shore and so aware of their arriving
Are the children of this land prepared to share in their surviving
A pageantry of feathers stands his majesty with treasure
Not the material things of kings that could never last forever
But secrets of the spirit world and how to live in harmony together
Unbeknownst to him his head would be the first that they would sever
And stuck up on a pike up along the beach

Kept up as a warning to the rest to turn away from their beliefs And so began it here. And for five hundred years Torture, terror, fear 'til they nearly disappear

This world, my heart, my soul
Things that I don't know
The icicles they grow
They never let me go
But tears they soak on through
Things I've done
My young

My unforgivable youthWays and means from the trade of human beings
A slave labor force provides wealth to the machine
And helps the new regime establish and expand
Using manifest destiny to siphon off the land
From native caretakers who can barely understand
How can land be owned by another man?
Warns, "One can not steal what was given as a gift;
Is the sky owned by birds and the rivers owned by fish?"

But the lesson went unheeded, for the sake of what's not needed You kill but do not eat it

The excessive and elitists don't repair it when they leave it
The forests's were cleared, the factories were built
And all mistakes will be repeated

By your future generations doomed to pay for your mistreatments Foolishness and flaws, greed and needs and disagreement

And then you rush to have the most, from the day you left your boats You'll starve but never die in a world of hungry ghosts This world, my heart, my soul

Things that I don't know
The icicles they grow
They never let me go
But tears they soak on through
Things I've done
My young

My unforgivable youthAs archaeologists dig in the deserts of the east

A pit a hundred meters wide and a hundred meters deep They discover ancient cars on even older streets

And a city well preserved and most likely at its peak

A culture so advanced, and by condition of the teeth

They can tell that they were civil, not barbaric in the least

A society at peace. With liberty and justice for all

Neatly carved in what seems to be a wall

They would doubt that there was any starvation at all That they pretty much had the poverty problem all solved

From the sheer amount of paper, most likely used for trade

Everything's so organized. They had to be well behaved Assumed they had clean energy, little to no enemies

Very honest leaders with overwhelming sympathies

Religions kinda complex. Kinda hard to figure out

But this must be the temple

This White HouseThis world, my heart, my soul

Things that I don't know

The icicles they grow

They never let me go

But tears they soak on through

Things I've done

My young

My unforgivable youth
