

Forget and Not Slow Down

Relient K

How many times
Can I push it aside
Is it time I befriended all the ghosts of all the things that haunt me most?
So they leave me alone
Move on with my life
Be certain the steps of left and right don't fight the direction of upright I'd rather forget and not slow down
Than gather regret for the things I can't change now
If I become what I can't accept
Resurrect the saint from within the wretch
Pour over me and wash my hands of it
It's time to decide
Which is out of my mind
Cause it'll be me unless I put some thoughts to rest and leave some faults behind
I'll watch the glint in my eye
Shine off the spring in my step
And could be blinding depending on the amount of You that I reflect Cause I could spend my life just trying to sift through
What I could've done better, but what good do "what-ifs" do?
Oh oh
Oh oh
There's something I should tell you now I'd rather forget and not slow down
Than gather regret for the things I can't change now
If I become what I can't accept
Resurrect the saint from within the wretch
Pour over me and wash my hands
Pour over me and wash my hands
Cause I could spend my life just trying to sift through
What I could've done better, but what good do "what-ifs" do?
Oh oh
Oh oh
There's something I should tell you Oh oh
Oh oh
There's something I should tell you I'd rather forget and not slow down
Than gather regret for the things I can't change now
If I become what I can not accept
Resurrect the saint from within the wretch I'd rather forget and not slow down
Than gather regret for the things I can't change now
If I become what I can't accept
Resurrect the saint from within the wretch I'd rather forget and not slow down
Than gather regret for the things I can't change now
If I become what I can't accept

Resurrect, resurrect
Pour over me and wash my hands
Pour over me and wash my hands of it

Lyrics provided by <http://greatlyrics.net/>