Everything Changes

Morgan Evans

Feels like I spent my whole life planning out my whole life
Tryna make it feel right when it don't
I know I picked the wrong ones just to have someone
'Cause who likes to be alone?
I had a couple heartbreaks, made my share of mistakes
Thought that kinda love wasn't meant for me
But looking at you across this room
Feels like this could beOne of those nights, starts with a smile
One of those smiles turns to a drink
One of those drinks leads to a song
You and me dancing all night long
One of those dances leads to a kiss
One of those kisses feels like forever
One of those nights you start as strangers
One of those nights when everything changes
Yeah, when everything changes
Now you got me laughing, I haven't been laughing
Quite like this in quite a while
Now you got me thinking like I've been drinking
More than I've been drinking here tonight
Like heaven in a black dress it ain't even late yet
I can see the morning in your eyes
I don't dance, girl, but I wanna dance with you
This is feeling like it might beOne of those nights, starts with a smile
One of those smiles turns to a drink
One of those drinks leads to a song
You and me dancing all night long
One of those dances leads to a kiss
One of those kisses feels like forever
One of those nights you start as strangers
One of those nights when everything changes
Yeah, everything changes
I swear someday we'll look back and say
Remember that time, remember that place?
You first took my breath awayOne of those nights, starts with a smile
One of those smiles turns to a drink
One of those drinks leads to a song
You and me dancing all night long
One of those dances leads to a kiss
One of those kisses feels like forever
One of those nights you start as strangers
One of those nights when everything changesYeah, everything changes

Everything changes
Start as strangers
Everything changes

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.