

Drunk On Love

Basia

I was dreaming when I jumped the lights
 Busy scaling dizzy heights
Hummed a somewhat strangely familiar tune
 My eyes as wide as open books
 And from my ears upon two hooks
A big smile was hanging there like a crescent moon
 It sometimes comes as quite a shock
 When the Gods of love
When the Gods of love decide to knock
 You're in a state of disarray
 Just when you least expect it
You'll never know a better day
 Day dreaming fever taking over
 No misdemeanour
 Stone cold sober
The officer who stopped me said
 "Lucky you didn't wind up dead"
And he guessed that I was over and above
 I hoped he'd only caution me
 I made a plea for clemency
On the grounds that I was only there drunk on love
 It sometimes comes as quite a shock
 When the Gods of love
When the Gods of love decide to knock
 You're in a state of disarray
 Just when you least expect it
You'll never know a better day
 Day dreaming fever taking over
 No misdemeanour
 Stone cold sober
 Day dreaming fever taking over
 No misdemeanour
 Stone cold sober
It sometimes comes as quite a shock
When the Gods of love decide to knock
And leave you in a state of total disarray
Just when you least expect it, you'll never know a better day
 You'll never know, you'll never know
 You'll never know a better day, yeah
 You'll never know a better day
You'll never know a better day
 Day dreaming fever taking over
 No misdemeanour
 Stone cold sober
 Day dreaming fever taking over
 No misdemeanour
 Stone cold sober
