

Love Me, Hate Me

Tyler and the Tribe

There was a thing about you
That drove me crazy
Kept a lot of things running
Around in my mind Was it the way that you wore your jeans
Low on your hips
Or maybe the fact that you never
Never had time for me
(Oh but you did for yourself)
You shook me down to the core
Like a bottle of champagne
I was blowin' through the roof
It was a hell of a time Then like a kid you threw me down
When you got bored with me
You were out of my league
And I didn't mind
Well I'll never forget the words you said
When you kissed me on the cheek
And you hopped out of my bed
You said "Love Me, Hate Me, but don't forget me" You laughed out loud
When I told you my dreams
Now you're the fuel that keeps all these
Wheels spinnin' around
Thought I was stupid to think
That I'd ever get the chance
To spread my wings
And leave this stupid little town
Now you listen to the radio
And all you hear is my voice
It's tellin' you something
That only I can enjoy
It say's "Love Me, Hate Me, but don't forget me"
IT was a few years later
Downtown one night
I saw you sittin' by yourself
Under neon lights I walked up, you smiled gently
You were feelin' kinda buzzed
It felt like we were old friends
It felt like time had missed us I don't know what it was
It may have been the alcohol
There were quite a few things
That you could not recall So before I left I grabbed ahold of your whiskey
And held it in the air...

And said "Love Me, Hate Me, but don't forget me"
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://greatlyrics.net/>