

Never Fallin'

Living Legends

Down
Never falling down down down
Ever falling down Even if I was blindsided by mack trucks
In the side street, in the alley way, in a foreign city
I'd still make it back home
On a highway
No bulletins no street signs, no other cars, no radio, no satellite
I'd still make it back home
Connected to the universe like a string of lights on the holiday
If one's out doesn't mean the mind of bar who roam the stome
Feel the earth y'all the fire water and sky under his home under his clothes under his belt
Its the (?) tones
I never regret the wake and the as the birth shot forth on my feet not my fins
I am a man defending the doubt don't forget gravity laws
The only thing keeping me from flight
Wings of space, infinite night
Down the spiral not in sight
Great there is no father
It's her and her offspring
Nobodys offering help, skin ain't softening
Acts chopped to the ankles, her babies coughing
Maybe the check will come today, the wait's exhausting
She's the pillar so, she can't be tilted
Give her sons
The feeling as though, they got a million to blow
Need no stilts to reach the stars
Teach the kids to reach with their heads
And they each will be yours
I give a piece of me for her to have a piece of mind
Or a piece of your chicken cause its ramen all the time
Shes thin and getting scared but she never lets on Many men will not fall cause their mamas head strong
Pick your feet on up
Why dont you get on up
Lift your spirits up
Damn I know this shit is tough
I flunked in high school
My pops he left me young
I often lost my cool days, I feel my mama's gun
I lost my only son
When my girl she almost died
Had abortion haunted by a babies eyes

And every reason lies
Cause you know the truth inside
You're feeling like a coward, like the wrong person died
But you still gotta ride
Let the years pass em by
Never really knowing why
The questions why I'm always high We slipping and sliding
808 kick riding
Serving rock, balling while they conquering and dividing
Teeth glistening shining
Listening to ourselves lying
Bleep'n a bleeping ego still trying
Identifying with the why or whats
Self hating is the scars and the cuts that run deep down
Not giving a fuck behind the sweet sound of the new blues
Battling the truck full of sun roof to new shoes
Chrome
Neglecting the home
Disrespecting the zone
That Sankofa should of shown us
Looking back before the time that they owned us
But never really owned a damn thing that spirit sounding like I'm hella irresponsible, I'm possibly the cause
Of my subsequent downfall
Now a take a pause and reflect on my karma and laws
I've ignored all the signs that could cause
A turn and redirect my preferred
Course of action, before the curse of my actions
The rehabilitation of the baddest on the planet
Will center mark a mile stone of progress
The life changing tones of why heart and soul mean the most Learning voices be the search and exume all my skeletons
A room full of demons where the angel was a prisoner
She's tortured for the visitors
The listeners who read between the lines
And stay inquisitive to dissect these sentences Last night I took a field trip
Kind of bent, hopped a fence
Cut across a playground and laid down by the cemetary
Reflecting on my past, present, and current events
Speech slurring venting to the moon I swear she was answering me
Not literal, but in the spiritual sense
We spoke me, myself, and I, but I wasn't alone
In fact it felt that picture of a beach with footprints and the sand
You know the poem hanging in grandmama's home
Where does love come from
Where does it go when its gone
What takes its place
And why does that space turn hard as stone
Another year I am older today

In many ways I've grown
But in my head them, them questions still they roam
Riding the bike she said its like cycling in circles
With your eyes closed
No hands blind fath is what she called it man
Said life's an ocean with a lot of commotion
Once you dive in, yeah its deep
But if you could swim it ain't mattering

Lyrics provided by <http://greatlyrics.net/>