

Too Late

Janine

I dreamt of you
The last two nights that we made love like our past lives
Felt good to see your face again
To feel your sun under my skin
We kissed goodbye in Brooklyn light
And things got darker after that night
I know I tainted what we had
It sounds so good and so bad
Don't get it twisted
Not asking for forgiveness
Just saying I would do things a little different
And now it's too late to say I'm sorry
Too messed up to say I love you
We moved on, years passed
But sometimes I miss us
It's too late to say I'm sorry
Too messed up to say I love you
We moved on, years passed
But sometimes I miss us
And you saw all I'd be
I'd be, I'd be, I'd be
I'd be, I'd be, I'd be, I'd be
Love to sit down, clear things up
Maybe talk about music, that can be enough
What would that do for you now
Cause you've got a wife and a child
Don't get it twisted
Not asking for forgiveness
Just saying I would do things a little different
And now it's too late to say I'm sorry
Too messed up to say I love you
We moved on, years passed
But sometimes I miss us
It's too late to say I'm sorry
Too messed up to say I love you
We moved on, years passed
But sometimes I miss us And you saw all I'd be
I'd be, I'd be, I'd be
I'd be, I'd be, I'd be, I'd be Might have been the one
Now you're someone else
Know that you told me no-one would love me
Or treat me the way you do

I lead you to believe your a stranger on my pillow
And I'm thinking of you
Still thinking of you And now it's... It's too late to say I'm sorry
Too messed up to say I love you
We moved on, years passed
But sometimes I miss us
It's too late to say I'm sorry
Too messed up to say I love you
We moved on, years passed
But sometimes I miss us
I miss us
