

Still

Tamia

Still the man of my dreams, he still.
Still the man for me and i'm still inlove with him so deeply usually when two people are together for a long time things seem to change it's been said nothing good lasts forever but this love gets better every day, we get all excited inside everytime that we get alone, he still got love in his eyes, and I still got love in my soul Still, feels like the first time we met that I kissed and I told you I love you, we still run around like teenagers even though we're grown and married with kids, and we still talk on the phone for hours when I'm away and he still writes letters and send me flowers every other day, the question everybody ask is how we make it last

I tell them

I still

he still

we still

Now I still smile in the morning, when I realize when I'm still in his arms, we know everything about each other, but we still keep holding on - yeah, we're never gonna break up we'll be always there to make up as long as we stick together we'll climb higher, I'm gonna ride with him to the wire, our love is never gonna end we're on fire,Feels like the first time we met and i kissed and i told you i love you we still run around like teenagers even though we're grown and married with kids,
and we still talk on the phone for hours when I'm away
and he still writes letters and send me flowers every other day,

he still

we still

We go through problems like everybody else but I don't mind 'cause it makes us keep it fresh what's sadder than an argument is the thought we may have never been He's my lover, my baby's father, my lifetime partner and my friend, still the man of my dreams, he still, still the man for me and I'm still in love with him so deeply, we still talk on the phone for hours when I'm away and he still writes letters and send me flowers every other day,

he still
we still Feels like the first time we met and i kissed and i told you i love you we still run around like teenagers even though we're grown and married with kids, and we still talk on the phone for hours when I'm away
and he still writes letters and send me flowers every other day,
I tell them
we still
