

Nothing Left

As I Lay Dying

This world was never worthy
But how can I call it the unfaithful
Every promise was fulfilled
As decay crawled from it's throat
Like the dead rising from an open grave
Like the dead rising from an open grave
Lips of splendor, tongue of deceit
All dying now as our fragile wrists hold only waste
Like those gasping for their last breath
We cannot hide, there's nothing left
Like those gasping for their last breath
(There's nothing left)
If all my sorrow has led me here
Then I would cry all of my tears
To have this chance, to have this chance again
To have this chance, to have this chance
And know there's more than this
And know there's more than you
Like those gasping for their last breath
We cannot hide, there's nothing left
Like those gasping for their last breath
We cannot hide, there's nothing left
