

Walk Away

Cody Johnson

There's a difference, in the way she feels when I touch her now.
I can tell that something's wrong but I can't put my finger on when, the why, or hows.
And there's a coldness in the way she swears I'm not the reason she's not in the mood.
And it tears me up inside to lie here next to her while she lies to me about you. She thinks I don't know but I'm about to lose control.
She's the kinda love that builds you up enough but she can't stand to be alone.
Hell's what I'm gonna raise, cause I'm Hell bent on a change.
Buddy finish your drink its on me, then get up and walk away. You see I've known her long enough to know how she was before she was mine
And I'm not oblivious its just I've been the only one for all this time.
So now you know the reason I came in here tonight to put an end to this romance.
There's nothing you can say or do to prove to me that shes not worth a second chance. She thinks I don't know but I'm about to lose control.
She's the kinda love that builds you up enough but she can't stand to be alone.
Hell's what I'm gonna raise, cause I'm Hell bent on a change.
Buddy finish your drink hell its on me, then get up and walk away.
Buddy finish your drink and then I think it's time you walk away.
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://greatlyrics.net/>