

Brave This Storm

Trivium

Have you beheld how our ending befell?
We are the catalyst; engineered hell
The depths we've sunken to
The violent things we do
A cleansing tide would eradicate all of you
How did you think when in apathy's drink
That doing nothing would spare you from the brink
You're equally at fault; now broken by the assault
The righteous, the victims, the villainous ones and all
I know what you're hiding from
The waves keep crashing over
They pummel me, over and over
I don't think I can ever brave this storm
Should we go quietly?
Accept that all is lost?
I don't think I can ever brave this storm
Wash us away in the tides of decay
Extinction soon will claim us all as his prey
We're pulled in to the sea; the tempest has been set free
I'm wide awake when the lightning comes beckoning
Burn us alive for our sins and our crimes
We are the wretched ones: malevolent slime
Existing to consume; everything we once knew
Take us, break us, submerge us inside our tomb
I know what you're hiding from
The waves keep crashing over
They pummel me, over and over
I don't think I can ever brave this storm
Should we go quietly?
Accept that all is lost?
I don't think I can ever brave this storm
This quest is impossible
I'm feeling my insides pull
I'm being devoured whole
My soul is poured in the world
Brave this...
The waves keep crashing over
They pummel me, over and over
I don't think I can ever brave this storm
Should we go quietly?
Accept that all is lost?
I don't think I can ever brave this storm
The waves keep crashing over
They pummel me, over and over
I don't think I can ever brave this storm
Should we go quietly?
Accept that all is lost?
I don't think I can ever brave this storm

Lyrics provided by <http://greatlyrics.net/>