

Stars in the City

Old Dominion

We took a U-turn down on 42nd street
Almost hit another car
Spilled my coffee on my jeans and I said: Oh, they're ruined now
She said: No, they're better now, it's just a matter of perspective
She kissed my cheek
It's the little imperfections that make'em unique
I don't know how she does it, but she can see the stars in the city
She sees a diamond when the world sees dust
Finds the glitter in the gritty
I know I ain't much but
That girl sees something nobody else can see
When she sees something in me
Yeah, she can see the stars in the city
The more I hang with her the more I realise
There can be beauty in the broken if you open up your mind
She says things like: Ain't this rain nice
And: Don't sad songs make you smile
Well if she's crazy
I wanna be crazy too
She's the kinda girl that can break up a band
I wanna see the way that she can see the stars in the city
She sees a diamond when the world sees dust
Finds the glitter in the gritty
I know I ain't much but
That girl sees something nobody else can see
Maybe she sees something in me
Yeah, she can see the stars in the city
That girl sees something nobody else can see
Maybe she sees something in me
Yeah, she can see the stars in the city
In the city she can see the stars in the city
She sees a diamond when the world sees dust
Finds the glitter in the gritty
So pretty she can break your heart
Yeah, she sees the stars in the city in the city
She sees the stars in the city
Oh yeah

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://greatlyrics.net/>

