

Well Done

Jeremy Passion

Sometimes I don't understand
Why I thought that I had
All the time in the world
To go and see you awhile
For just a little while. Too caught up in my own life
I didn't see the pain you hid with a smile
And now you're not here with me
Should have been, could have been, would have been, alright Wish I knew how to turn back the hands of time
'Cause maybe then I'd be here by your side
Wish that I had done just a little more
Wish that I could see you one more time
But I know that God holds your life
Your battle has finally won and He said well done
My faithful servant well done
Too many times in our lives
Do we take things for granted
I don't understand it, no
When it's right in front of our eyes
Thinking they would be here for all times
Wish I knew how to turn back the hands of time
'Cause maybe then you'd be here by my side
Wish that I had done just a little more
Wish that I could see you one more time
But I know that God holds your life
Your battle has finally won
Wish that I had done just a little more for you
Wish that I could see you one more time
But I know that God holds your life
Your battle has finally won
Wish I knew how to turn back the hands of time
'Cause maybe then I'd be here by your side
Wish that I had done just a little more for you
Wish that I could see you one more time
But I know that God holds your life
Your battle has finally won
And he said well done
My faithful servant well done
And God said well done
Oh Grandma well done
And he said well done...
